

Contents

1. Introduction	1
How do People Think?	1
Law and Psychology	2
Responsibility	8
Global Association	9
Impersonal Causation	9
Foreseeability	10
Personal Causation	10
Justifiability	10
Attribution Theory	10
Common Sense	16
2. Responsibility	25
Perceptions of Responsibility	25
Findings of Negligence: Heider's Third Level	25
The Reasonable Man	26
Defensive Attribution	32
Just World	36
Hindsight	40
Causation	42
Third Party Intervention	49
3. Criminal Responsibility	53
Requirement of an Act	54
Requirement of a Guilty Mind	60
Drawing the Inference	63
Rage and Provocation	67
Mental Disorder and Criminal Responsibility	71
Legal Perceptions of Mental Responsibility	72
Tribunal of Fact and Mental Responsibility	78
'No Place for a Woman'	83
Infanticide	84
4. Finders of Fact	89
Making Judgments of Fact	89
Getting the Right Answer	90
Recognising Liars	94
Witness Consistency	95
Discrediting Witnesses	102

vi The Verdict of the Court

Demeanour	104
Demeanour and the Courts	110
Refusal to Testify	113
Particular Witnesses	114
Constructing a Story	118
5. Laymen and the Law	127
Judicial Instructions on Evidence	127
Judicial Instructions on Standard of Proof	133
Reasons for Disobedience	135
Obstinacy?	135
Incomprehensibility of Instructions	138
Trial Structure	145
Conclusion	147
6. The Criminal Process and Personality	149
Personality as Proof of Guilt	149
Offender Profiling and Disposition	150
Murderers	157
Rapists	159
Paedophiles	162
Using Profile Evidence	164
Evidence of the Defendant's Criminal Record	166
A Predilection to Crime	170
Facing Police Pressure	172
Staying Silent?	172
Being Tempted to Confess	174
7. Laymen and Science	179
Admitting Expert Evidence	180
Experts in Human Behaviour?	181
The Objectivity of Science	188
Overruling the Expert	190
Personality of the Expert	192
Courts and Science	194
Damn Lies and Statistics	196
8. The Impact of Psychology on Law	203
The Evidence of the Eyewitness	203
Facilitating Witness Testimony	209
Assisting Recall and Delivery	212
Evaluation	214
Conclusion	217
Index	221